

	Day 1: Thursday, June 6th, 2013
	9.00 Conference opening (room 216 – second floor)
	Session 1a (room 313 – third floor)	Session 1b (room 215 – second floor)
9.30	Brian Lowrey - Infinitival Perception Reports in Old English	Marta Sylwanowicz - "Here begynnyth and tellyth howe a man schal make hys salves , oynementes and vnguentys ." Towards standard medical terminology in ME
10.00	Lauren van Alsenoy - Old English any	Magdalena Bator - Sugar and spice and all things nice: a semantic analysis of culinary vocabulary in Middle English
10.30 - 11 coffee break (room 216)
11.00	Ewa Ciszek - The Middle English preposition atwēn	Justyna Karczmarczyk – Panne is he (...) of þe kende of þe baselycoc, uor no grenhede ne may yleste beuore hym : on nouns denoting basilisks in medieval English
11.30	Dominique Boulonnais – Grammaticalization: Adaptation versus Exaptation	Agnieszka Magnuszewska - The linguistic image of 'sea' in Old English, on the basis of Orosius
12.00	Xavier Dekeyser - Old English weorþan and Related Process Copulas: Demise and Rise	Justyna A. Robinson - On using shallow time-depth evidence in historical semantics
	Session 2a (room 313)	Session 2b (room 215)
14.00	Magdalena Tomaszewska – On the status of cunnan in Middle English	Malgorzata Klos - Euphemistic and non-euphemistic verbs for 'die' in Middle English chronicles
14.30	Paula Prescod - The Diachrony of Sentential Negation in English and English-based Creoles	Kinga Sadej-Sobolewska - Middle English words for 'envy': an example of a lexical rivalry
15.00	Alexandra Scridon - Factors and Mechanisms of Word Order Change in Middle English: a Generative Perspective	Sylwester Lodej – Towards a time-bound society: a diachronic perspective on counting time in American English
15.30 - 16 coffee break (room 216)
16.00	Paulina Kolasinska - Twelfth century English morphology	Dirk Noel – Diachronic construction grammar: a state of the art
16.30	Hagen Peukert - The mediating role of English compounds in the development of derivational affixes from Middle English to Present Day English

Day 2: Friday, June 7th, 2013

Session 3a (room 215)

Session 3b (room 313)

9.30	Saghie Sharifzadeh - Auxiliary do : toward a theory of a factitive origin	Anna Wojtys - Unnan, becweþan, gifan, sellan : verbs of granting in Old English documents
10.00	Olga Fischer - The influence of the grammatical system and analogy in processes of language change: the case of have to once again	DeAndre Espree-Conaway - What's up with hwaet ? A Study in Historical Discourse Analysis

10.30 - 11 coffee break (room 216)

11.00	Marta Kolos - Middle English poetic prosody and its reliability as a source of data for linguistic analysis	Julia Schultz - The Highs and Lows of the French Influence on English in the Twentieth Century
11.30	Julien Fulcrand - A Reanalysis of The Great English Vowel Shift under Contrast Preservation Theory	Richard Ingham - Anglo-Norman and the history of English: some new research
12.00	Jerzy Welna - In search of the missing link, or how OE macode became ModE made	Elena Sasu - Inkhorn terms: the ones that got away

Session 4a (room 215)

Session 4b (room 313)

14.00	Yana Chankova - On Double Object Constructions in Old English and Old Icelandic	Elise Louviot - Pragmatic Uses of Nu in Old English Poetry
14.30	Dianne Jonas - Aspects of the Syntax of Shetland Dialect: a Diachronic Perspective	Fabienne Toupin - The semantic development of up from the viewpoint of historical pragmatics
15.00	Ariane Macalinga Borlongan - The Morphosyntax of Philippine English: a Diachronic Analysis	Joan Beal - Enregistering the North: the dialect of Mendicus in William Bullein's Dialogue Against the Fever Pestilence (1564)

15.30 - 16 coffee break (room 216)

16.00	Sylwia Pielecha - Reflexivity in Old English: a Corpus Study	Justyna Rogos - "Practice makes perfect": scribal spellings as a means of manifesting membership in a professional community
16.30

Day 3: Saturday, June 8th, 2013

Session 5 (room 313 – third floor)

9.00 Javier Calle-Martín & Jesús Romero-Barranco - A Dialectal Analysis of the Negative Adverb ne in Late Middle English

9.30 - 10.45 Stephen Morrison - paleography workshop

10.45 - 11.15 coffee break (room 216)

11.15 - 12.30 Elena Sasu - paleography workshop

14.00

14.30

15.00

16.00

16.30