

Tuesday 2nd July

9h00

Accueil

9h30

Intrinsic versus extrinsic perspectives on multiple modal emergence and distribution

Cameron Morin, ENS Paris-Saclay

10h00

The status of 'nationality genitives' in Old English: was Hannibal, Penu cyning 'a Carthaginian king' or 'the king of the Carthaginians'?

Elzbieta Sielanko-Byford, University of Warsaw

10h30

Coffee break

11h00

Bahuvrīhi compounds in Old English

Caterina Saracco, University of Genoa

11h30

What has become of adjectives in SVI constructions?

Mathilde Pinson, Université Sorbonne Nouvelle

12h00

Jacob's Well: towards a new edition

Stephen Morrison, Université de Poitiers

12h30

Lunch

Wednesday 3rd July

Accueil

Plenary lecture:

Grammaticalization: old and new approaches

Hubert Cuyckens, KU Leuven

Coffee break

Semantic shift in Middle English: Farming and Trade as test cases

Richard Ingham, Louise Sylvester & Megan Tiddeman,

University of Westminster

Nithe and onde, þat is here broþer: the lexicalisation of a Middle English binominal

Olga Timofeeva, University of Zürich

The non-metaphorical and metaphorical meanings of Middle English military terms related to 'battle': a corpus study

Weronika Kaźmierczak, University of Warsaw

Lunch

14h00	Historical shifts of the English How come...? construction: a corpus-based perspective Jongbok Kim, Kyung-Hee University	Coordination and correlation in the Old Saxon and Old English Genesis: a comparison Thérèse Robin, UPEC
14h30	Gimme some. Tracking -some adjectives in OED3: a study of the diachronic morphosemantic behaviour of the suffix -some . Chris Smith, Université de Caen	Information structure and argument structure interaction in IOS constructions Yana Chankova, SW University, Blagoevgrad
15h00	A corpus-based study of split intransitivity in 15th century English Katarzyna Zdziera, University of Warsaw	Scalic Approaches to Anglic Lexicon Charles-Henri Discry, Université d'Artois
15h30	Coffee break	Coffee break
16h00	Preposition Stranding in Middle English Kristina Smejovà-Rusnok, Palacky University, Olomouc	Absentivity and the progressive: a brief history of the He is on hunting/He is fighting constructions Dominique Boulonnais, Université Paris IV
16h30	The paradigmaticization of evidential and raising predicates in English Mario Serrano-Lossada, University of Santiago de Compostella	On the development of relativization from Old English to Late Middle English Concha Castillo-Orihuela, Univerity of Malaga

Thursday 4th July

10h00 Guided tour (in English) of Amiens cathedral